

Sinclair Broadcasting's decision to air an anti-Kerry documentary days before the election is a clear example of an abuse of the public airwaves.

Isn't there some requirement for broadcasting stations to give equal time to all the candidates?

I believe there is. Consequently, I think that if the FCC is going to allow Sinclair to air an anti-Kerry documentary right before the election, it should also require them to air Fahrenheit9/11 in an equivalent time slot, or perhaps back-to-back-with equal advertising and promotion.

Allowing broadcast media to be unfair in the way they treat candidates does NOT serve our democracy well.

I hope that you will reconsider your apparent decision to allow Sinclair to go forward with its plans.
